

1 ABSTRACT

2 A permission level associated with a child's access to a Web server is 3 identified. A relationship ticket is obtained from an authentication server and a 4 request is generated to set the identified permission level. The request and the 5 relationship ticket are sent to the Web server and a success code is received from 6 the Web server if the requested permission level is established.
